PEER REVIEW PROCESS

Based on the reviews, editorial board decides on paper publishing and informs the author within 3 months from paper receipt. Papers should be prepared in accordance with the Instructions for Authors.

Reviews and publishing. All papers are anonymously reviewed by two anonymous reviewers. On the basis of reviews, editorial staff makes decision on paper publishing and informs the author about it within three months from paper receipt.

Authors should not submit for publication manuscripts describing the same research in multiple journals or primary publications. Simultaneous submission of the same manuscript in several journals constitutes unethical behaviour in publishing and is not acceptable. The author should not submit a previously published paper to another journal for consideration.

The Editorial board should take reasonable measures in the event of ethical complaints regarding the submitted manuscript, or published work. These measures relate to contacting the author of the manuscript, or published work and access to complaints or claims with due diligence, but may also include further address to competent institutions and academia and if there is no reaction to the complaint, a correction, revocation, expression of concern or other appropriate reaction should be published. Each reported the case of unethical behaviour must be investigated, even if it is detected more years after publication.

Publication of manuscript is free of charge.
